Paving of Rockland and Grove Place May All Be Charged to Property-Owners

Council Authorized to Assess Costs by Borough Code.

PAVE WYNNEWOOD CT.

Narberth will soon have no unpaved streets within its limits if the opinion of Council as expressed at the May meeting of that body on Monday night remains unchanged. The Highway and Sewer Committee reported that the petition of Wynnewood Court, one of the four unpaved streets, was now in order. Bids will be advertised for its paving immediately.

According to the chairman's report the prospects for securing the sufficient number of signers on the petition for the paving of Rockland Road from the railroad bridge to Narberth Avenue looked bright. After the report had been written, however, further attempts to secure the necessary additional signatures proved unavailing. In the discussion which ensued at the meeting it was brought out by one of the Councilmen that Council possessed the legal right, according to the Borough Code, to have streets paved and the total cost therefor levied against the property owners with or without their consent. The petitions which are being circulated for the paving of Grove Place and Rockland Road call for their paving under the terms of the Street Improvement Bond Issue, according to which property owners would pay only 30 per cent. of the cost, the other 70 per cent. being borne by the Borough.

It was authoritatively stated at the close of the meeting that in the event of failure to secure sufficient signatures from property owners on Rockland Road and Grove Place agreeing to pay 30 per cent., it may be necessary to proceed, under the statute mentioned above, which would require the property owners to pay 100 per cent.

For that reason the Highway Committee submitted a supplementary recommendation, which was approved, and which authorizes them to advertise for bids for the paving of Wynnewood Court, Rockland Road from the railroad to Narberth Avenue, and Grove Place immediately. If the three streets can be paved as one job it is thought that a lower figure can be procured for the work, whereas it will cost both the property owners and the borough more if they have to be done as separate jobs.

The east side of Wynnewood Avenue will also be rebuilt by the borough; the work to start immediately. This street has been subjected to hard wear by busses, and was getting in deplorable condition. If county aid is secured for this road, the west half will likewise be rebuilt this year; otherwise it will have to wait until 1930 when its cost can be covered by borough funds.

Vandals Escape

Vandalism in the homes of J. H. R. Acker, 301 Kent Road, Wynnewood, and P. C. Redmond, 251 Kent Road, Wynnewood, was reported to Lower Merion Police this week. The marauders forced entrance at both residences during the night when members of the families were away.

In the Redmond residence they slashed several rugs, ruined some wearing apparel and did other damage, while in the Acker home they apparently threw a bottle of ink against the wall, spattering the fluid over the wall and furniture.

Robbery ostensibly was not the motive of the intrusion, according to police, as valuables were untouched. The only thing found missing was $1.45 from a pocketbook in the Redmond home. The theory that a former employee of the families may have perpetrated the acts as vengeance is being investigated.

Varied Program Ends Women's Club Year

Reports of Chairmen, Election of Directors, Entertainment Are Features.

INTRODUCE NEW HEAD

A gorgeous luncheon on Tuesday brought to a close the Women's Community Club season. The meeting was the last presided over by Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, club president for two years. Mrs. W. Russell Green, the new president, was introduced at the close of the meeting.

The high lights of the chairmen's annual reports were many and varied, showing what a group of women with the motto, "Co-operation, progress and service," can do in a year's time. Donations to many good causes were reported, one outstanding by the Welfare Committee of $100 to the Crossnore School for a home for orphan babies. This sum is the nucleus for a home which has been named by the grateful Crossnore faculty the "Narberth Home."

The Clubhouse Fund was reported as over $7000, invested in first mortgage bonds, the lot having been previously purchased for a club home.

The Board of Directors' annual election was held at this time. The new directors elected for the coming year were Mrs. W. Russell Green, Mrs. George Suplee, Mrs. C. A. Farmer and Mrs. Joseph Miller.

The program given by the Sub-Junior Department consisted of two piano solos by Miss Evelyn Jefferis and Miss Barbara Sutherland. A clever little one-act comedy given by the Lower Merion High School dramatic department called the "Wedding Present" was also offered.

Mrs. Jesse Harris gave one of her original monologues called "An Evening with the Radio," in which Tompkins' Corner presents a Community Club program with Matt, the judge, and Elmer all having something to say about several members of the club. She also gave a mother goose of the Executive Board in rhyme, the efforts of no one being forgotten.

The luncheon served by the Hospitality Committee was a huge success. The lovely table decoration of violet sweetpeas and yellow daisies with purple candles in the green console sets, a gift from the committee to the club, caused much favorable comment. Mrs. J. W. Darville, the chairman, received from the committee a beautiful vase filled with flowers. She in turn presented to the outgoing president, Mrs. Farmer, from the club members an amethyst and pearl medallion and to Mrs. Green, the new president, a gorgeous basket of flowers.

Mrs. Farmer in closing introduced Mrs. Green, saying "no one will dare to say her nay, for I'm giving her this gavel on the fourteenth day of May."

G. O. P.'s Preparing Slate For Primaries

Republican Committee Endorses Councilman Hall For Burgess.

MANY TERMS EXPIRE

At a meeting of the Republican Committee of the borough at Elm Hall last Thursday evening under the chairmanship of Charles V. Noel the list of offices to be filled in the September primaries was prepared. Chief among these are a burgess, four Councilmen, two school directors and a tax collector.

John R. Hall, at present a member of Council, was endorsed for the post of burgess after informal discussion by the committee. It was understood that Burgess Henry A. Frye would not be a candidate for re-election. Inasmuch as Mr. Frye had not returned from a trip to the coast by the time this paper went to press, no statement from him could be procured.

The Councilmen whose terms of office expire this year are Daniel Leitch, Robert F. Wood, Clarence Kaeber and William H. Fretz. School directors whose terms expire are Kenneth L. M. Pray and Dr. Leroy A. King. The offices of tax collector and auditor will also be open for election this year.

At the primaries each Narberth district must also elect a judge of election, an inspector of election and a registry assessor.

An open meeting will be held on May 27, at which time it is hoped that all good Republicans will be on deck and that there will be many names suggested for the posts to be filled. The Republican Committee hopes that all new voters in the borough will see that they are enrolled on the assessor's books, this being the month registration takes place. A house-to-house canvass is being made by the Assessor in each district and in case the voter is out the assessor leaves an enrollment blank. It then is the voter's duty to fill out this blank and return it to the assessor at least two months before the primaries.

Need For Guidance Shown by Rotary Club Speaker

The necessity of guidance for boys and girls of high school age in respect to selection of studies, schools and vocations was stressed by Samuel S. Gulick, instructor of vocational guidance at Lower Merion Junior High School, before members of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club on Tuesday. The meeting was in charge of Howard F. Cotter, chairman of the Attendance Committee of the club.

Visitors included J. R. Vanderbery and John W. Philips, of the Ardmore Rotary Club; George Painter and Leroy Lewis, of the Philadelphia Rotary; C. W. Hoffman, Ray Watrous, of Narberth; William Harris, of Ardmore, and Edward N. Sullivan, charter member of the Penn State Rotary Club and a Past Secretary and now a resident of Narberth.

Judges Flowers

Robert J. Edgar, of 632 Montgomery Avenue, was one of the judges of the Bryn Mawr Flower Show, which closed last Saturday at the Bryn Mawr Community Centre.

New Club President

Mrs. W. Russell Green, recently elected president of the Women's Community Club of Narberth, who was introduced at the closing luncheon of the year on Tuesday by the retiring president, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer.

Baseball Fan Asks Support For Team

Need Contributions For New Equipment at Season's Start.

SEEK $1 DONATIONS

The following appeal for funds for the Narberth Baseball Club from a fan who signs himself "Old Timer" is itself so timely that we hereby give it space on the first page. The Baseball Club affords recreation to thousands during the season, and, as a public benefactor, deserves the support "Old Timer" requests. —The Editor.

Every baseball fan in and around Narberth is hereby cordially invited to make a contribution to the Narberth Baseball Club to help defray the usual expense of getting the season started. Suits and all the other things needed to equip a team must be bought and paid for, and most of these things have to be bought fresh each season.

If you feel like helping the good work along—to the extent of a one-dollar bill, or more—step into Davis' store this evening as you pass along Haverford Avenue, and hand the money to Gene, now the manager of our local club, and deserving of all the support and help that the baseball fans of Narberth can give him. Gene and his players will do their part if we do ours!

"OLD TIMER."

Practice Game Satisfactory; Narberth Trims Farren

In the second practice game of the season the Narberth Club gained their batting eyes and turned in a well-earned victory over the Farren A. C., of Philadelphia, on Saturday at the playground. The victory of Manager Davis' men, even though a practice game, adds to their laurels since their opponents had a winning streak to their credit, including a win over the touted Holmesburg nine.

Fifteen men saw action in the Narberth lineup during the afternoon, the team being composed entirely of local players.

Baseball Opener to Be Played Saturday

Narberth Will Oppose Brookline in Official Opening of 1929 Season.

FOUR TEAMS IN LEAGUE

The cry "Play Ball" on the playground at 3:15 will see the official opening of the baseball season in Narberth. Brookline will be Narberth's opponent in the first league game.

The Main Line League, for the first half of the season at least, will be composed of the following teams: Narberth, Berwyn, Brookline and Ardmore. Brookline and Ardmore are new to the league this year, though fans expect to see some familiar faces in their line-up:

Stricter eligibility rules will be enforced in the league this year prohibiting the padding up of a team for important games and near the close of a season. Two Philadelphia Association umpires will be on duty for each game, and forfeits have been posted by representatives of each team against their non-appearance.

The Narberth club will be without the services of several of its luminaries until the close of the colleges. Masters, Gilfillan, Harris and Gillespie will not be available till the end of June for this reason. A nucleus of veterans is available for Manager Davis' outfit, including Durbin, George and Vernon Fleck, Babb, Humphries, Yocum and Burns.

The twilight season will open next Wednesday, May 22, with the Penn A. C. at 6:30 P. M. Two of the tightest games of last season were staged against this club, so a bangup scrap is anticipated. Many good teams will be seen here at twilight games, including the Merril Professionals and the Twentieth Ward.

The schedule for twilight games for the coming month or so is as follows: Wednesday, May 22, Penn A. C.; May 29, Philco; Monday, June 3, Havana Red Sox; Wednesday, June 5, Clearview; June 12, Harrowgate; June 19, Penn A. C.; June 26, Northeast Pros.; July 3, Merrill Pros.

Fellowship to Hold Banquet and Dance

The third annual banquet of the Young People's Fellowship of All Saints Church will be held on Wednesday, May 29, at Elm Hall, at 7 P. M. There will be a prominent speaker at the affair as well as entertainment.

Dancing will follow the banquet from 10 to 1 with music furnished by Bill Clear's Troubadours. Tickets may be had for the dance separately or for the banquet and dance combined. Richard Gillis is chairman of the Banquet Committee; the other members being Edwin Wolf, Alfred Blaess, Elizabeth Venemann, Ella Ross and Virginia Douglass.

Mother's Council Will Hold Election of Officers

At the regular monthly meeting of the Mothers' Council in the school library on Monday evening, May 20, election of officers for the year 1929-30 will occur. There will also be a report of the summer roundup campaign. The committee working on this is composed of the following members: George H. Wilson, Mrs. Ruby Perishich and Mrs. F. T. Van Auken.

The class banner for the year will be awarded to that class which has won it the greatest number of times during the year. After all business has been completed the remainder of the evening will be devoted to the reception of the new officers and a general good time. Refreshments will be served. All members are urged to be present as this is a most important meeting.

High School Concert Pleases

The annual music conncert of the Lower Merion Senior High School was presented to the public last Friday evening at the Senior High Auditorium. The numbers were arranged and staged by Bruce Beach, director of music in the high school.

The school band, the girls' glee club and the orchestra combined to give one of the best programs ever presented by the musical groups at the high school. In addition to numbers by these organizations, a mixed chorus sang a number of popular favorites. Vernon Hammond at the piano and Catherine Getz, soprano, were the soloists.

Six Records Fall as L. M. Wins Class A Suburbans; Nearby Schools Runners-Up

Six new records were established at West Chester's new field in the Philadelphia Suburban track and field events Saturday afternoon with fifteen schools competing — West Chester, Norristown, Abington, Cheltenham, Lower Merion, Lansdowne, Chester, Haverford, Radnor, Media, Jenkintown, Glen-Nor, Swarthmore, Springfield and Darby.

In Class A: Lower Merion won first place with 46½ points, followed by Haverford with 31½; West Chester, 29; Norristown, 23; Lansdowne, 6¼; Abington, 5¼; Cheltenham, Ridley Park and Chester being unable to score.

In Class B: Media won with 52½ points; Radnor second, with 46; Jenkintown, 38½; Swarthmore, 14; Glen-Nor, 13; Springfield, 10 1/3; and Darby, 5.

Aiken, of Radnor; Valenti, of Media; Jesse Murray, of Upper Darby; Frost, of Jenkintown, and Peters and Segal, of Lower Merion, were the stalwarts who shattered the old marks.

Aiken, of Radnor, broke the record in the 440-yard dash, held by a former Radnor runner, Patterson. The new time was 55 3/5. "Tip" Peters broke the pole vault mark of 10 ft. 3 in., held by Kohlhas, of Lower Merion. Kohlhas' record was made in 1926, and he entered the freshman class at Annapolis and immediately broke the freshman record his first year in the Academy by vaulting over 11 feet. Peters' mark last Saturday was 10 ft. 6 in.

Bob Segal, another consistent winner for Lower Merion, broke the javelin throw mark by hurling the spear 160 ft. 8½ in., beating Fisher's (Abington) old record by two and a half feet. Valenti, of Media, beat his own discus mark, and Frost, of Jenkintown, set a new mark of 10 3/5 sec. in the 100-yard dash.

For Lower Merion, Neeley took two first places in the shotput and discus. Bridgeman took first place in the broad jump, Peters in the pole vault and

The Old Main Line

The following historical sketch, which will be printed serially, was written by Margaret B. Harvey, and originally published in a volume issued by the Historical Society of Montgomery County in 1895. Entitled "Something About Lower Merion," it traces the history of the township from its beginnings to the 1890's with many delightful digressions.

INSTALLMENT 8

In which we view the Bryn Mawr and other Main Line towns of thirty years ago, traversing the countryside from Overbrook to Rosemont.

Do you care to proceed along the continuation of the older with the newer Gulf Road? You will see a pretty, diversified farming country. But suppose we find our way among the modern branching avenues and examine this town of Bryn Mawr. Very beautiful, is it not? seated upon hills as its Welsh name implies, from any one of which may be commanded a wonderful view of Lower Merion spread out like a literal promised land flowing with milk and honey? The distant hill-enthroned village to the north is Merion Square, once called in derision the War Office. Bryn Mawr has no set limits; the careless observer, not trained to discriminate between the old and the new, would say that the town extended, like a red and yellow scarf, from Rosemont to Overbrook. To our plain Quaker taste these red and yellow villas forming the scarf appear far too numerous, but the people evidently are trying to solve all hygienic and moral problems. If this is the ideal country village, the home beautiful of the future will be in just such a country village; city crowds, city noises, city smoke, city filth and city poverty being things of the past; and then it will be said of Lower Merion that she was far in advance of her age in relegating all such things to the forgotten barbarities.

At Rosemont still stands a semi-modern cottage in which Longfellow lived during Centennial summer, and in which he wrote his poem upon old Radnor church, which, although founded by the same Welsh settlers, is too far over the Delaware County line for Lower Merion to claim. For the same reason we cannot embrace Villanova College, though it barely escapes us; nor Haverford College, although we do boldly grasp its beautiful granite gates, the posts of which are memorial stones celebrating a semi-centennial. Lower Merion then encourages her sons to enter the halls of learning founded by her own founders, the Quakers; if she does not precisely bid them enter at Villanova, the domain of the Catholic Church, she more than makes up for her neglect both at Merion and Overbrook; for between these stations upon the Pennsylvania Railroad stands a splendid pile of architecture known as the theological seminary of St. Charles Borromeo. Lower Merion cannot afford to deny her Catholic citizens. One of these is everywhere quoted for Lower Merion as Stephen Girard is for Philadelphia. Dennis Kelley, an illiterate Irishman, came to the township with a pack upon his back and began his career by weaving carpet in the loft of a spring house near Ardmore, pushing his finished wares to Philadelphia in a wheelbarrow for sale. He died a millionaire. He it was who developed the water power of Cobb's Creek, thus reaping the gratitude of Delaware County as well as Montgomery; he it was who made property valuable in the southeastern corner of Lower Merion, near the Delaware and Philadelphia County lines. And Dennis Kelley is not the only poor man who won wealth in Lower Merion.

If we desired to pass in reality, as we have done so rapidly in fancy, from Rosemont to Overbrook and vicinity, it would probably be by way of the Pennsylvania Railroad or the Lancaster Turnpike already alluded to. From all of the old roads branch off many byroads nearly as ancient, but the exact date of whose laying out is not popularly known. The Schuylkill early had a highway along its banks, and from this road others soon deflected into the interior of the township following the streams up through the ravines. Among the newest roads are the avenues opened to reach certain stations upon the Pennsylvania Railroad, giving rise to the singular fact that while that portion of Lower Merion near the Schuylkill has changed very little within the memory of the present generation, that near the Delaware County line has become so altered within the last ten years that an old resident would scarcely recognize it, except by its prominent natural features. Hence the red-and-yellow scarf from Rosemont to Overbrook. But it is a mistake to suppose that this linear, fashionable suburban town is just what it appears in every sense—a mushroom creation of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Bryn Mawr, it is true, had this august corporation for its sponsor in baptism, but the site chosen for the proposed ideal village had crowding upon it Humphreystown and Possumtown. The hamlet at Haverford is an outgrowth from the Quaker college founded fifty years ago. Libertyville, or rather Wynnewood, is probably the oldest settlement in Pennsylvania. Ardmore, formerly Athensville, is very little younger.. Merion was a name and a station known and recognized before Elm and Bryn Mawr. So it will be seen, although the Pennsylvania Railroad, with wealth and fashion, dominates, this part of Lower Merion still preserves its traditions; the railroad found as much as it created. The new has not yet quite driven out the old. The grand homestead of the Humphreys' family still stands in all its antique splendor in the very midst of Bryn Mawr's palaces. Side by side with one of the prettiest stone cottages in Ardmore may be seen a picturesque old barn, beautifully embowered in graceful Virginia creeper and scarlet-blossomed trumpet vine.

Sports in Brief

Merion Cricket Club's first team is leading the Women's Interclub League by one point. The team, composed of Mrs. C. C. Madeira, Miss Adelaide Jefferys, Mrs. Harrison Smith, Mrs. Gardiner and Mrs. Watts, won in straight sets, 7-0, from the Huntingdon Valley Country Club.

The Merion C. C. second team won from Cynwyd, 7-0. Miss Esther Daly, captain, who defeated Miss Cecile Bowes, Cynwyd, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, lost the only set for her team. Miss Adelaide Jefferys defeated Miss Eleanor Vanneman and Miss Betty Vanneman lost to Mrs. J. Wier Sargent. Mrs. Churchill Williams, Jr., and Mrs. T. J. Connors also won their matches from Miss Elizabeth Hickley and Mrs. Manus McHugh.

Frank Mahan, Villanova, made fifteen points in four events in the dual meet with St. Joseph's, which Villanova won, 65-58. Frank took first in the low hurdles and high jump, tied for second in the pole vault and finished second in the high hurdles. Pat Highfield, Villanova, captured both sprint events, and his teammate, J. J. Kelly, won both the shotput and javelin throw. Woods, Villanova, was first in the quarter mile.

On June 23 the school champions from the Main Line district in the recent marbles tournament will enjoy an excursion to Valley Forge Park.

Episcopal Academy, which is tied for first place in the Interac Baseball League with Chestnut Hill, plays the third-place Penn Charter team today. If both leaders win their games, the deciding contest will be played at the City Line and Berwick Avenue field next Friday.

Episcopal Academy won from Haverford School last Friday, 3-1, when Eysman permitted the Haverford boys but three hits. Johnson, Haverford, also pitched a good game, allowing but six safeties.

Montgomery School boys hit the ball hard for sixteen safeties and defeated Friends' Central, 11-9, last Friday at Wynnewood. Friends' Central made five runs in the first inning, one in the seventh and three in the ninth, but were held scoreless in the other innings.

Two records fell at the Villanova Interscholastics Saturday in the Class A events. George Flick, Peirce School, threw the javelin 173 feet 2 inches, and Dick Gifford, Penn Charter, went over the bar at 11 feet 5 inches in the pole vault. George School won the meet with 56 points.

Jean Shiley won the running high jump, standing broad jump and the basketball throw and Helen Fairbanks took the 50- and 75-yard dashes for Haverford Township High in a meet with Lansdowne High, won by the former, 49-13. Miss Shirley was a member of the 1928 Olympics team and holds the world's record for women in the high jump.

Open Penn-Wynne Library

A circulating library for residents of Penn-Wynne and Overbrook Hills in Merion was opened this week by the Penn-Wynne Women's Club, at which addresses were made by officers of the organization.

The initial stock consists of more than three hundred books, most of which have been purchased and donated by residents of the two towns. A committee of the Penn-Wynne Women's Club will administer the library affairs under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Wood, of Penn-Wynne.

The library will be open in the afternoon and on Wednesday evenings. Members of the committee have planned "library teas" to finance the expenses, and on Thursday afternoon card parties are held for the benefit of the library fund.

Many books have been donated by Mrs. D. J. Fleck, of the Bryn Mawr Women's Club. McWilliams and Meloney have donated books relating to suburban homes and landscaping.

Sisters Given Estate By Brother's Will

The will of Frank Zentmayer, late of Narberth, was admitted to probate Saturday and disposes of an estate valued at $10,000. After debts and funeral expenses are paid the testator directs that the residue be given to his two sisters, Emma and Mary Zentmayer, making provision that if either one is deceased the other is to inherit the entire estate. The sisters are named as executrices of the will, which was executed December 22, 1921. They filed a renunciation of their rights. Letters of administration with the will attached were granted to Sidney E. Smith.

Academy Buys 5½ Acres, Will Change System

Purchase by the Board of Trustees of the Episcopal Academy of the Robinson property adjoining the academy was announced recently. The purchase fronts on Latches Lane and adds five and one-half acres to the academy holdings, which now comprise close to thirty acres. The Episcopal Academy tract now has a frontage on City Line of more than 1000 feet and extends from City Line to Latches Lane, a distance slightly more than a quarter of a mile.

The Board of Trustees of the academy, in a letter to the parents of the pupils and friends of the institution, said, in part: "By this addition we make possible a plan that has been studied for several years, which divides the academy into lower, middle and upper schools; the new unit, the Middle School, corresponding approximately to the Junior High School as developed in the public school system."

Death Dealing Hedges

The chief cause of regret is the realization that things might have happened differently. If there was no alternative there is no need of bemoaning our lot. We might as well turn fatalist and say it was God's will.

Such reflections are brought to mind by the recent accident at the corner of Sabine and Wynnewood Avenues, resulting in the death of a young man 24 years old. Imagining the causes of this accident is a futile occupation, yet it is fairly certain that if both machines had been going within the legal speed limit, twenty miles an hour, or if there had been a clear view from both directions no accident would have taken place.

The corner at which this catastrophe occurred is only one of many dangerous ones in Narberth. There are several other intersections within the borough's limits as bad or worse. Attempts have been made to decrease the dangers at these bad intersections by marking the words SLOW on the street in large white letters. This precautionary step on the part of the authorities has no value unless motorists co-operate by showing caution.

One public-spirited citizen, Charles V. Noel, has cut down the hedge on his property so low that it cannot in any way obscure the vision of motorists at that corner. If the property owners at corners having poor visibility due to artificial obstructions such as hedges would follow this good example the chances of such an accident happening as occurred at Wynnewood and Sabine would be palpably decreased.

Lists Additional Winners of Garden Awards

To the Editor of Our Town:

Some time ago I was asked to place the awards in the recent Garden Contest.

In order to have an entry judged in this competition it was necessary that a formal entry be made. The contest was primarily for Narberth borough, but also included all of the Narberth district, whether it be Lower Merion Township or the borough.

A few entries came from the township, and they were inspected and judged by me, but as I have seen no record of this in "Our Town" or in any of the other local papers, I am sending you herewith a copy of the awards, as I had placed them.

Special award for a well-kept, artistically arranged feature garden was given to John B. Williams, Wynnewood Avenue. Mr. Williams' garden, while not large, is well kept and beautifully arranged, largely by the owner himself.

Awards in Narberth Borough: First, Robert Beatty; second, R. F. Wood; third, A. W. Fredericks; fourth, Robert Nash.

Awards for Lower Merion Township: First, George Gilpin, Jr.; second, E. D. Larney; third, C. A. Farmer.

Very truly yours,
A. E. WOHLERT.

NOTE—The first three awards for Narberth Borough given above by Mr. Wohlert were published in Our Town for May 3, along with the winners of the other contests.—The Editor.

JAMES A. NEYLON

James A. Neylon died at his home, 536 Dudley Avenue, on Saturday, May 11, in his seventy-sixth year. He was the son of the late John and Mary Neylon, of Renovo, Pa. Mr. Neylon lived in Narberth for the past four years. Solemn Requiem Mass was said at St. Joseph's Church, Renovo, at 10 A. M. on Wednesday, with interment following in St. Joseph's Cemetery. He is survived by two sisters, Elizabeth and Emma Neylon, and a brother, Thomas E. Neylon. Mr. Neylon was unmarried.

Too Scared to Steal

An unsuccessful attempt was made Monday night to rob the drug store of A. J. King, at 37 Wynnewood Avenue, Wynnewood, sometime about 2 A. M. It is supposed by the police that the robbers were scared away by the approach of someone going to or from the railroad station.

This is the second time that the store has been entered, but in each case nothing was taken. Thieves cut the bars on the window facing the station, and, with almost superhuman strength, bent them up in order to enter. Nothing was disturbed.

The FIRESIDE

If the plans for the annual Lower Merion Junior-Senior dance this evening at the Junior High School mean anything this year's affair will be the best ever. Of course, each class likes to make its dance better than previous ones, and each year it really does seem more enjoyable. Perhaps the reason for that is that Juniors who are doing all the work this year will have nothing at all to do with the arrangements next year. The Juniors entertain the departing Seniors, you see! Members of the committee include Chairman Ruth Lee Cook, Molly Irish, Betty Suttle, Janet MacDowell, Frank Mantz, Warren Lockwood and Herbert Harkins. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roach, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Elmore and Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Pennypacker will chaperone.

Miss Betty Jones and Miss Mildred Odiorne, of Grayling Avenue, were among the guests at the bridge party given Saturday by Miss Polly Holt, of Wynnewood. There were about twenty-four guests.

A local chapter of the Sigma Kappa Fraternity will dance to Bill Clear's music at the Cynwyd Club next Friday evening.

Miss Betty Kempton, of Avon Road, has issued invitations for a luncheon and bridge at her home on Saturday, June 1.

Mrs. Charles H. Shaw entertained two tables of bridge at her home on Avon Road last Friday.

Mrs. John LaFore, of Fairview Farm, will entertain the members of the Sunday school classes of All Saints' Church tomorrow. Varied sports, including swimming and horseback riding, and a luncheon will be given the guests.

Mrs. Dunstan Smith, of the Avon Apartments, gave a dinner party Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Dorothy Kirschmann, of Philadelphia. Her guests were Miss Betty Jones, Miss Ruth Gaul, Miss Ruth Egmore and Miss Patsy Evans.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Hartley, 412 Haverford Avenue, will entertain tomorrow evening at dinner, followed by a bridge party. Their guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dothard, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Williams, Dr. Harriet Hartley, Dr. Ruth Weaver, Miss Genevieve Hargrave and Dr. Arthur Hartley.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Safburg, 110 Chestnut Avenue, spent last week-end in Berlin, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Monington, Elmwood Avenue, opened their cottage at the shore last week.

Mrs. B. H. Hillman, of Goodhaven, L. I., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Smith, of Avon Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Evans, of Chestnut Avenue, are at their cottage at Avalon, N. J., for a fortnight.

Mrs. Joseph J. Pearson, of Dudley Avenue, gave a dinner party at her home Sunday evening for a few guests from Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Titus, of Chestnut Avenue, week-ended in Maryland recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Maguire, Jr., formerly of Montgomery Avenue, now of South Ardmore, will give a card party at their home tomorrow evening. There will be sixteen guests.

Mrs. Arthur Goldsmith, of Montgomery Avenue, entertained the members of her Thursday morning reading class at a "Tulip" luncheon at her home last week. The seventeen members are all from Philadelphia. Mrs. Paul Blyden and Mrs. Charles Sessler, of Merion, were also guests.

Mrs. Goldsmith will leave tomorrow for a five-day conference of the national organizations of the Dickens' Fellowship of America, which will be held at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York. Both Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith, who are members of the board of the Philadelphia Branch of the Dickens' Fellowship, furnished the program for a recent meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd Woman's Club, when scenes from Dickens' books were presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stirling Digby, of the Berkley Apartments, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Lambert Digby, and Mr. James Hyland Jewell, son of Mr. H. Theodore Jewell, of Chestertown, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gene Allen, of Gilpin Road, sailed last Wednesday on the S. S. President Harding for Europe. They will spend some time in Paris, and return on the same steamer.

Ralph S. Dunne, of Shirley Road, attended the convention of Pennsylvania Retail Coal Merchants' Association held yesterday and today in Harrisburg.

Miss Ellen Brinton, of Merion Avenue, has as her guest over the week-end the Rev. Thomas Brinton, missionary in Belgian Congo, who returned this week for a five years' period.

Mr. and Mrs. Palled B. Krout announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise Elizabeth, and Mr. Elmer L. Menges, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Menges, of Bermudian, Pa. Mr. Menges lives at Willow Grove and practices law at Norristown and Willow Grove.

Merry Month Is Rainy

May has the spring flowers, etc., but it also recently has been marked by much rain and several cool days. During the last week a total of about an inch of rain fell on four showery days, and in the same period temperatures were from two to eight degrees below normal, according to the report of Charles Decker, Main Line weather observer.

46 Under Quarantine

Forty-six persons are under quarantine in Lower Merion Township. Fifteen of these are new cases, including two scarlet fever patients in Ardmore, reported to Marvin E. Reynolds, health officer, during the last week. By far the largest number, 29, are ill with whooping cough. Altogether five persons are confined to their homes from scarlet fever.

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

This is the first of a series of articles on "Prohibition" expressing the personal views of the contributor rather than the editorial policy of the paper.—Ed. Note.

The entire Atlantic Seaboard, if not the nation, is agitated about the subject of prohibition and the laws pertinent to it. Your editor has permitted me to develop a series of personal views on the subject subject to correction and criticism by any reader.

First of all let us consider the matter of alcoholic beverages and stimulant. No one of normal physical vigor needs strong drink in youth or middle age. Most physicians agree that all of us would be happier if we had never known of fermented, brewed or distilled beverages. Fortunes have been lost through an abnormal craving for alcohol; health has been destroyed; family life has been disrupted; all sense of propriety and ambition falls before an excessive flood of liquor; death stalks in the wake of too much drink or bad drink, and tragedy may lurk in every bottle.

The reasons for desiring drink are either sentimental or physiological. The cheering cup has been an institution for countless generations; the stimulation of mild drinking induces sprightly conversation, contributes occasionally to literature or art, wipes away the psychological barriers of shyness and reticence and renders social intercourse more easy.

However, some drink to forget, feeling that in their cups they may be obvious of the slights or abuses of an unsympathetic world. The resultant depression must be far worse to these benighted souls than the temporary oblivion.

Some drink to fall into a spirit of gayety and artificial mirth, but gloom is likely to follow. Some imbibe to get greater courage, but the accompanying unsteadiness undoes much of the gain.

There is, however, use for spirituous beverages, and I cannot find it in my heart to condemn the people who sip their wine at boulevard cafes in Paris, the foxhunting gentry of Britain who revive their spirits and drive the chill out of their bones with a glass or two of port after a hard day's run to hounds, the peasants of Italy who moisten their tongues with a drop of grape as clear as their native sunshine, the futile Mexican who drowns his purposeless self in tequila, the high-speed executive who dulls his jangling nerves with a highball, or the quiet families who add a sparkle to a formal dinner with a cocktail or a bit of champagne.

No matter how we, as individuals, feel about this condition, we recognize that it has reached a state in public attention out of all proportion to its intrinsic importance, and sooner or later we will be called upon to declare ourselves one way or another. It is to clarify our views on the subject that I am going to present mine, and I shall sincerely welcome comments from readers.

The time is approaching when we must obey the law or see that it is changed. Forces greater than the imagination of most of us are working to retain it, and others equally great are striving to utterly destroy it. Is there a middle track that will eventually prove satisfactory to everyone? Probably not.

Our acknowledged nation-wide hypocrisy on the matter of observance must gradually dissolve. Men will not be able to say, "Oh, yes, I drink, but I wouldn't vote for repeal or modification because I don't want my sons to form the habit. I remember what an open country offered to young boys in the way of pitfalls." It is just as sensible for the young men to say that they won't vote for repeal because their fathers would drink more if drink were easier to obtain.

Next week we'll stop for a minute to reflect about the conditions in pre-prohibition America before the war.

Bob Segal in the javelin. Klennin placed fourth in the shotput. Ernie Parks ran third in the 880 and Pennypacker fifth in the pole vault. Warner placed fifth in the quarter and Eddie Cave tied for first in the high jump. Warner and Parks were the only winners on the track events. Lower Merion's victory rested on the shoulders of the field men.

Albeck, of Haverford High, took second place in the 100 and third in the 220. Worster, his teammate, placed in the high jump, and Robertshaw placed fourth in the javelin throw. Chew was fifth in the 880.

Aiken, Mertz, Kavanaugh, Lentz, Satchell and Berrien were the point-getters for Radnor High. Aiken took first place in the 880 after breaking the record in the 440. Kavanaugh won the 220 hurdles.

Lower Merion placed two in the relay and Haverford third. Radnor was second in the Class B relay.

By winning the Suburbans Saturday, Lower Merion takes permanent possession of the League cup, this being the third time in the last four years that they have won the meet.

Haverford Junoir High Wins Meet by 3 Points

In its first reverse of the season Coach Harman's Junior High track team lost a dual meet to Haverford Junior High School at Ardmore Tuesday afternoon.

The failure of one of Lower Merion's first place men to show up for the meet was the cause of defeat. Haverford won by three points.

Herb Young took first place in the dashes, while Max Forrest, of Haverford, was victor in the shotput, discus and broad jump. Louis Buek, Lower Merion's new sensation in middle distance running, won the quarter and half mile, breaking the half mile record in 2:09 2-5. Richards, of Haverford, won the pole vault; Russell Wood was first in the high jump, and Leo Parry, Lower Merion, captured the hurdles.

Lower Merion took both relays in easy style. The first relay was made up of 100-pound boys.

Sing A Song of Old King "Coal"

You know that in the Springtime coal is always at its best, for ice and snow don't clog it then, nor dirt its pores invest. "All coal," we said, but just one kind we're interested in,— That's "Jeddo-Highland," best of all with which to fill your bin. The reasons for such statement its analyses will show,—"High in Carbon,—low in ash,"—the chemists tell us so. Another fact to mention,—this coal is now "Chance-Cleaned," which means it comes out cleaner now than coal was ever screened. Just one more word before we from this rhapsodizing cease,—Prices now are lowest—buy before the next increase!

Haverford Favorite to Win Big Meet

Withdrawal of N. Y. U. Boosts Local College's Chances.

With the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Association championship meet only a week off, Haverford College is in the grip of anticipation, not only as host to the seventeen competing colleges, but as an outstanding contender for the championshp.

Prospects of the Main Line college were boosted sky-high this week with word of the withdrawal of New York University from the meet. For the last four years Haverford has easily landed second place in the contest, with N. Y. U. usually ahead.

The action on the part of New York University follows announcement that the institution has outgrown the class of the member-colleges of the associatiion and that, therefore, it would resign from the associatiion, effective June 1.

Although N. Y. U. is officially out of the meet it is planning to send its crack relay team here to compete in a special race. The object of the test would be to try for the 2400-yard relay world's record. A University of Pennsylvania or Meadowbrook A. C. team may oppose the Empire State runners.

The meet will open Friday at Walton Field with more than 400 athletes entered. Among the larger teams signed up are: Lafayette, 54 men; Haverford, 47; Swarthmore, 32; Union, 34, and Alfred, 27.

In addition to Haverford, the first-place contenders are Swarthmore, Lafayette, Union, Johns Hopkins, Alfred and Dickinson. If past records mean anything, Haverford is the strongest of the lot, as it has been well above all schools except N. Y. U. in the final scoring the last four years.

In spite of its recent standing, Haverford has never won the championship of the association, and with an excellent chance this year anticipation is keen.

Hopes of Haverford are pinned chiefly on Morris, stellar shotputter and discus tosser; Ensworth, a speedy sprinter in the dashes; Sykes, in the low hurdles; Mawhinney, in the half-mile; Edgar twins, in the mile, and Speck in the pole vault. Each of these men has a good chance to win a first place.

Council May Proceed With Street Paving

The report of the Highway and Sewer Committee is as follows:

"Your Committee on Highways and Sewers submits the following report for the month of April and recommendations for new work in the immediate future:

"The Solicitor's office delivered us a written opinion under the date of April 26, indicating that the work of paving Wynnewood Court in accordance with the petition received from the residents thereof can be undertaken without receiving a deed of dedication. We, therefore, recommend that this committee be authorized to advertise for bids to install the permanent pavement on Wynnewood Court, acting in accordance with all of the terms of the Street Improvement Bond issue and the ordinances previously passed in connection therewith.

"We recommend and request authority to rebuild the east side of Wynnewood Avenue eight feet wide from Windsor Avenue north to Montgomery Avenue at a total expenditure of not more than $5000. Our estimate of the cost of this work is based upon 2822 square yards at $1.75 a yard, amounting to $4938.50. This amount of money would be derived from current funds, for which provision has already been made in the current budget. It is our desire to start this work on Wynnewood Avenue this week if we receive the authorization of Council to proceed.

"Your committee now has in its hands a petition for paving Rockland Road from the railway bridge to Narberth Avenue under the terms of the Street Improvement Bond issue. This petition has already been signed by eleven abutting property owners representing 955 front feet. It is necessary to obtain signatures representing at least 425 additional front feet before this improvement can be undertaken. We hope to secure the necessary additional signatures before the next meeting of Council and to be able, at that time, to request authorization to proceed with the permanent improvement of that street.

"During the month of April we installed city inlets at the northeast corner of Hampden and Windsor Avenues; at the southeast corner of Narberth and Windsor Avenues; at the northeast corner of Dudley and Windsor Avenues; and at the southeast corner of Dudley and Windsor Avenues. The installation of these inlets enabled us to fill in depressed gutter intersections which had previously presented a traffic hazard.

"During the month of April we expended $1368, of which $133.98 was for street maintenance materials and the remainder was for labor, as follows: For street cleaning, $308.60; for street maintenance, $131.40; for collecting 795 cubic yards of ashes, $827.19; for labor on the steam roller when rented, $7.40; for installation of inlets adn raising depressed gutters, $93.50."

French Abbe Tells How to Wend Way Thru Mazes

In his fascinating little volume, "The Art of Thinking," Abbe Ernest Dimnet offers the following suggestions as regards reading:

"If you want to be vitalized into the power of thinking real thoughts, and if you want never to know a dull instant while reading, do what has been done by the best specimens of mankind since there have been books—resolutely leave out whatever is not of the best.

"Does this mean that we should give up contemporary literature and live entirely in the monuments of the past? No, indeed, for nothing helps thought like 'hic' and 'nunc' questions, and if you do not belong to your own time, what time can you belong to? We should read modern poets and modern novelists and follow art in its most advanced manifestations. There must have been towards 1840 suspicious old Londoners who refused to read the 'Pickwick Papers' because the book was so unlike Mr. Addison's 'Spectator.' These old fogies were losers. It would be as foolish today to ignore Mr. Sinclair Lewis or Mr. Arnold Bennett, even if we suspect that, in eighty years, they will not appear like the Dickenses of the early twentieth century. On the other hand, if you try to keep up with the industrialized literary production of today you will be swamped and lost. Is there no way of making a selection?

"There are dozens of ways, but here is an easy recipe. Nobody can twit you with an affectation of indifference to the present time if you leave out books which you find are forgotten three months—that is to say, twelve short weeks after their publication. Do not read those. You will be surprised to see how few there will be left to read. People do not realize that the feverish excitement often produced on the publication of many books, and which the innocent public can hardly resist, is entirely commercial and artificially created by publishers. They imagine that the book itself does it all. But the book does not do it, and the publisher cannot do it longer than a week or two. When ten more weeks have put their dead weight on the little excitement, it is more than forgotten. Draw up a test of the American writers whose works published several years ago are still on the shelves where the eye and hand occasionally travel. These are the ones it would be unforgivable to desert, even for far superior reading, but you will see how few they are. Notoriety, high as it is above mere publicity, is still many degrees below fame. If a man reproaches you for ignoring books that have not made their author famous, he is speaking from publishers' blurbs and ought to be listened to accordingly.

"The busier we are the more severe our selection should be. . . . Parents anxious to give their children the best of everything should as resolutely pack away trash of all kinds from their reach as if it were poison. It is surprising that intelligent people anxious to do their best should not realize that no book ought to be left in the nursery that is inferior to 'Robinson Crusoe,' 'The Arabian Nights' or Perrault's 'Fairy Tales.'

Main Line Girls Rehearse Pageant

Prepare 'Romance of Philadelphia' With Girl Scouts of Nearby City.

MANY WOMEN ASSIST

What promises to be one of the largest and most colorful pageants ever presented by the Girl Scouts of the Main Line and Philadelphia is now being rehearsed by twenty-five hundred members of 171 troops in preparation for the evening of Saturday, May 25, when "The Romance of Philadelphia" will be given at 8 P. M. in the Palestra of the University of Pennsylvania at Thirty-third and Chancellor Streets. It will be the first event organized by the Girl Scouts and open to the public during the past ten years. The twenty-five hundred children will be in costumes to represent the settlers who were among Philadelphia's early colonists. The elaborate accompanying music for the dancing and singing will be provided by members of the Philadelphia Orchestra, who will be directed by Adolph Vogel.

Experts in pageantry, costuming, folk dances and child music are working with Miss Oleda Schrottky, Play Director from National Girl Scout Headquarters, who is in charge of the pageant. Mrs. David Philips, of Cynwyd, Director of the Philadelphia Girl Scouts, is local executive chairman of the pageant, and the arrangements are in charge of the Girl Scout Executive Committee, Miss Margaret N. Robins, Merion; Mrs. John V. Martin, Philadelphia; Mrs. Robert Dechert, Rosemont; Mrs. David S. Stern, Elkins Park; Miss E. Gwen Martin, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Louis Rowland, Radnor, and Mrs. Horace B. Transport Chevrolet on Backs of Coolies

It became necessary a few weeks ago, for the first time in the history of Chevrolet Motor Company, to dismantle a car after sale in order to deliver it to its purchaser. This interesting incident occurred in Acheen, northern Sumatra, an outpost typical of numerous forsaken corners which Chevrolet has been pioneering for years.

One of the last provinces of the Dutch East Indies to submit to Dutch rule, Acheen has never been totally free from recurring outbursts of trouble. As a result, progress has lagged. Because it is rich in oil and endowed with fertile soil, steps have been taken by the government to penetrate it with roads.

Not long ago the Chevrolet dealer at Langsa received an order from the Department of Public Works for a Chevrolet truck to be delivered to a point where the authorities were busy with a road which is to run from Sigli on the north coast of Sumatra to Meulaboh on the west coast, a distance of about two hundred and twenty miles. From Meulaboh a road already existed up to a point about fifty miles inland. It was from here that the road was to be cut through the jungle to link up with a similarly short road running inland from Sigli.

Ships do not call at Meulaboh, so that it was impossible to transport the Chevrolet truck by this means. There was only one solution—the truck had to be dismantled and carried overland by coolies to the scene of operation. The work of dismantling was carried out by the dealer and the weary task of transporting the parts was started.

Without doubt it was the strangest caravan ever to move across this section of jungle land. A coolie, lugging a wheel, marched a little in advance. The cylinder block was in the custody of a particularly husky pair. And so on. The heavier parts were carried in shifts to divide the work equally.

The route led through almost impenetrable jungle, along narrow mountain paths and over ravines and rivers. On one occasion in the trek, a stream, spanned only by a cable line, blocked the route. Nothing daunted, the expedition chiefs dispatched the coolies with the parts for which they were responsible across the stream "on the wire."

Nearly a month was required to complete the jaunt. The day the last of the parts arrived the truck was assembled by the dealer's mechanic. The next day it was doing Trojan duty as Chevrolet trucks have done many times before in pioneering enterprises.

Place Signs on Detours

With the repaving of sections of two important traffic arteries in this vicinity, the Keystone Automobile Club has undertaken to prevent congestion and confusion by the display of numerous detour signs, placed under direction of Joseph R. Murphy, manager of the Ardmore branch of the club.

Wynnewood Road is being repaved between Penn Road and Wynnewood Avenue, and the work probably will require a month for completion. The detour, as outlined by the Keystone Club, takes motorists west on Penn Road to Sabine Avenue, thence east on Wynnewood Avenue to Wynnewood Road.

The second construction job is on Conshohocken State Road, west of Spring Mill Road, to the bridge entrance to Conshohocken. The detour outlined is north on Spring Mill Road to Woodmont Avenue and west on Woodmont to the bridge. This work also will be under way for about a month.

Lower Merion Boy Wins Prize Contest

Patrick Brady Awarded First Prize at Suburban Oratorical League.

UPPER DARBY BOY IS 2D

Patrick Brady, a Lower Merion High School student, won first prize of $20 in the oratorical contest sponsored by the Suburban Oratorical League on Friday at Norristown. Seven schools were represented.

Elwood Levy, of Upper Darby, took second prize, a $10 gold piece.

The winner took as the topic of his address "The Constitution, the Guarantee of the Liberty of the Individual." Levy's address was on "The Influence of the Doctrine of Implied Powers as Enumerated in the McCulloch vs. Maryland Decision."

Speakers were allowed to select their own subjects. Several others, in addition to the winner, used some phase of the Constitution. It is the subject of the 1929 national oratorical contests.

The judges were Judge Harold C. Knight, County Superintendent A. M. Kulp and Dr. Quincy A. Kuehner, of Temple University.

The chairman for the Norristown school was August Wucherer, of the faculty, and Miss Emma E. Christian, principal, introduced the chairman of the evening, Judge J. Ambler Williams.

Schools represented in the contest were Abington, Cheltenham, Haverford, Norristown, Lower Merion, Radnor and Upper Darby.

Utilities Merger Planned

Plans for the merger of five public utility companies in Philadelphia and nearby territory were announced recently by William H. Taylor, President of the Philadelphia Electric Company. The new company will be known as Philadelphia Electric Company.

The companies entering into the merger, if approved, are the Philadelphia Electric Company, Philadelphia Suburban-Counties Gas and Electric Company, Schwenksville Gas Company, Perkiomen Township Gas Company and Lower Frederick Township Gas Company.

The companies involved in the proposed consolidation are now serving a population of 2,800,000 persons and operate ten generating stations with an installed steam capacity of 675,000 kw. not including 252,000 kw hydro-electric capacity of Conowingo.

The number of customers served by these companies at the end of 1928 was 610,782 electric and 113,580 gas, a total of 724,362.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the five companies will be held on Monday, May 27, to take action on the proposed merger, subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Taylor, in a statement, said:

"On May 28, 1928, announcement was made that the operations of the Philadelphia Electric Company and Philadelphia Suburban-Counties Gas and Electric Company would be consolidated on June 1 of that year. The operation of these companies as a single interconnected unit has since done much to improve the service to our customers. The unification of the financial structures of these companies is a logical step in the program for expansion of service to the public.

What Is a Girl Bachelor?

Cassandra Nelson analyzes the bachelor girl, who has come to take the place of the spinster in the vast army of unmarried, independent women. In the June College Humor, Miss Nelson confesses:

"In the words of a certain delightful Mr. Michael Arlen, 'Let's face it!' Let's face the fact that there isn't any essential difference between being a bachelor girl or an old maid. In either case the bearer of the title is unmarried and going it pretty much on her own. And that's that, shade it as delicately as we may.

"The girl bachelor is urged to be as cosmopolitan as a railway station, and hers is the task to accomplish sophistication without boldness. We must be altogether untrammeled, as free and easy as a chorus girl is supposed to be and so often isn't, and, on the other hand, we are expected to be as exemplary as a Mormon wife, and fastidious to an unimagined degree. In a word, we must be Corinthian columns of uprightness or the goblins will get us if we don't watch out.

"The real bachelor girl is generally a college girl, or its equivalent, as we say in the advertising columns. She hates to go back to the small town and wants to try her dream of something she longs to accomplish. Something worth while. She proposes to choose her own friends and to keep the ones she made during her college years. These girls, true bachelor girls, come to the city, go into snug winter and summer quarters and prepare to fight it out on that line.

"If the girl 'bach' is busy all day, she still must shine in the evening, no matter how difficult it is to pull herself together. She must, in her own way, compete with girls who have been at their toilets since four in the afternoon. If a bachelor girl is really too tired to go to dinner or to the theatre or to a dance with a man, she knows that the 'Revised and Enlarged Primer for Bachelor Maidens' says: 'If you won't accept his offers of entertainment, it is absolutely necessary that you offer him some of yours.' And then it's up to you to be doubly entertaining, amusing, hospitable, attractive—altogether as lovely as you can be.

"In summer it is absolutely in the books that you know how to manage your golf clubs. People won't expect you to be a Helen Wills, but you must play tennis. If you ride, that's so much velvet. And 'Dance, Little Bachelor Maid, Dance!' These accomplishments often take that famous last penny to learn, keep up and properly array—Romance! Romance! It may be just around the corner. That is why so many of us bear the life with gayety and humor.

"The one terrible fact which every dyed-in-the-wool bachelor girl faces with sorrow in those revealing, ruthless hours just before dawn is the fact that she has no child. That is indissoluble from the whole question of women.

"Take warning! Don't go too far out in the stream of independence!"

Main Line Federation of Churches Teaches Co-operation, Tolerance, and Good Will

By Miss Alice Ambler.

The statement that "No man can live unto himself" is probably a more vital truth today than ever before in this community or in any other. There was a time when each household produced not only all of its own food and manufactured its own clothing, but produced the raw materials as well. Father and son, mother and daughter, worked together within the limits of the home. Even then the honesty, ambition and thrift of each neighbor, though widely scattered, affected the welfare of every other.

If this were true 100 years ago, how much more are we concerned about our neighbors today in this rapidly-developing community along the Main Line. Members of one group cannot live happy, secure, prosperous lives, educating and training their children to be the high type of youth that they want them to be unless their neighbors too are receiving legitimate satisfaction from life and are educating and training their children to be honest, thrifty, God-fearing, useful citizens.

The Main Line Federation of Churches is in itself a splendid example of co-operation, tolerance and good will. Here are twenty-one local churches of various denominations, civic organizations and service clubs banded together for the common purpose of expressing Christian neighborliness in concrete ways in this community.

Just as individuals cannot live apart so an organization is very dependent. It must look both to individuals and to other organizations for moral as well as for financial support. There are trained and sympathetic visitors who talk with those in trouble, and who, from extensive knowledge of community resources, help to solve difficulties. Some of these sources of help are: health care, through the family physician; the hospital, State Clinic, Visiting Nurse, convalescent and vacation homes; mental and moral care, through psychiatric and vocational guidance clinics, through the strengthening of church ties and provisions for wholesome recreation; financial care, through contributions of relatives or from special help from the church, or interested individuals. In some instances families are eligible for some assistance from public agencies. The representatives of the public agencies who co-operate with the Federation of Churches, either through service or by contribution of funds directly to the beneficiaries are: Mrs. Erwin Cheyney, of the Directors of the Poor; Miss Sarah Wetherill, of the Mothers' Assistance Fund; Miss Clara Gladwin, Probation Officer; Mr. James Harkness, Mr. McCurdy and Mr. McGovern, Health Officers; Captain Smith and Captain Lafferty, of the police, all of Delaware County. From Montgomery County there are Mrs. Euphemia Dunn, of the Directors of the Poor; Mrs. Lydia Slaughter, of the Mothers' Assistance Fund; Miss Susan Dunmore and Mr. Yeakle, Probation Officers; Mr. Marvin Reynolds, Health Officer, and Captain Smith, of Lower Merion Police.

Each of these individuals represents a group of agencies bound by certain regulations prescribed by law to render services to a very well defined group of persons. An agency supported by private funds may have a wider, more general field of activities. So the Main Line Federation of Churches not only co-operates with all of these public agencies in helping to make constructive plans for those who need assistance, but in addition renders service to many individuals who are not eligible for assistance from any but an agency supported by private funds.

This service may include counsel to families in which there is discord between man and wife, to families where there is lack of understanding between parents and children, to children needing special care or schooling, to young people starting out in life for themselves.

No Clues Found of Man's Vanishing

FAMILY MUCH WORRIED

The baffling disappearance of Edward Jones, 27, of Berwyn, whose automobile was found parked on Athens Avenue at the rear of the Ardmore Theatre on May 2, is still unsolved, and, according to Lower Merion police, not a single clue has been unearthed to throw light on his whereabouts.

Jones, a deputy sheriff of Chester County, has literally vanished from the face of the earth without reason or explanation. Police investigation has shown that his family conditions were ideal and that his business affairs were in perfect order. He lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Z. Jones, Kromer and Station Avenues, Berwyn, and was associated with his father in a heating and plumbing business.

What makes his disappearance all the more mysterious is the fact that he has always led a regular life and has never once stayed away from home

He has an excellent reputation in his community and a host of friends. His fraternal connections include: Green Tree Lodge, No. 340, F. and A. M., in which he was a deacon, and Montgomery Chapter, No. 262, F. and A. M., of Ardmore, in which he was master of ceremonies. Jones is also a Knight Templar.

Search for the deputy sheriff has become nation-wide, with the broadcasting to police departments all over his picture and description. He is described as being more than six feet tall, weighing 175 pounds and with reddish hair, blue eyes and a light complexion. He was wearing a dark mixed gray suit.

Lower Merion police, according to Superintendent Smith, have found no one who remembers seeing Jones in Ardmore on the night of his disappearance. Scores of residents and business people were asked if they had seen the man, and his description was flashed on the screen at the Ardmore Theatre, but without result. Dr. Frank Walter, Berwyn druggist, is the last person to have seen Jones on the night of May 1.

Discovery of his automobile here led to the theory that he had attended the Ardmore Theatre, but that is the only evidence found to support the belief that Jones disappeared while visiting here. His car was carefully searched, but nothing was found, except a pistol, which he was permitted to carry as a deputy sheriff.

There were no marks on the machine to indicate that he had met with foul play or violence. A check with all hospitals in the vicinity likewise has failed to show that Jones had an accident or was waylaid.

Members of his family, nearly frantic with anxiety, have been unable to give an explanation of his disappearance.

Inebriated Driver Needs Dog's Company

James Dobson Altemus, 26, son of Mrs. B. Dobson Altemus, of Falls of the Schuylkill, was held in $500 bail provided by John O'Dell, proprietor of the General Wayne Inn, by Magistrate Stillwagon at a hearing in the Lower Merion police station on Monday morning on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor after he had spent eleven hours in a cell with his Dachshund pet as his only company.

Dobson was arrested early yesterday at Iona Avenue, Narberth, by two Lower Merion policemen who pursued him from Church Road and Montgomery Avenue, Wynnewood, after his high-powered roadster narrowly missed the machine they occupied. He was pronounced intoxicated by a physician. He will have a further hearing on May 27.

The Women's Hospitality Committee consists of Mrs. Wendell Reber, chairman; Miss Belle Meyers, secretary; Miss Isabel A. Swain, field secretary; Mrs. James W. Fry, treasurer; Miss A. C. Barrow, Miss Jennie R. Beale, Mrs. Clement E. Chase, Mrs. A. E. Chevalier, Mrs. Thomas D. Cope, Miss Mary Dalrymple, Mrs. N. H. Gildersleeve, Mrs. William B. Gold, Mrs. Frank T. Gucker, Miss Alice G. Hall, Mrs. James B. Harper, Mrs. E. L. Heyser, Mrs. Dillaplain S. Hoffman, Mrs. S. S. Huebner, Miss Mabel Leas, Mrs. C. L. Parmenter, Mrs. Wellington J. Snyder, Mrs. Elmer T. Thompson.

Wins Scholarship

Miss Ruth J. Woodruff, of 4 Montgomery Avenue, Cynwyd, has been awarded one of the Marian T. Curtis Fellowships for graduate study at Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., during the year 1929-30. The announcement, which has just been made by the dean's office at that college, states that Miss Woodruff will choose as her subject of study Economics. She is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College, having taken her A. B. degree there in 1919 and her A. M. the following year.

Haverford College finished third Saturday in a triangular meet with the Army and N. Y. U., held at West Point. Speck, Haverford, tied for first in the pole vault at 11 feet, and Morris, Haverford, was third in the shotput and second in the discus throw.

George Munger, Episcopal Academy, was the hero of the University of Delaware Interscholastics on Saturday, when he scored 25 points, 3¾ more than were made by the entire second-place Germantown Academy team. George was first in the high jump, discus and broad jump, tied for first in the pole vault and placed second in the javelin and shotput. Episcopal won Class A honors with 53 points. Other Episcopal winners included Freihofer, who won both the 100- and 220-yard dashes; Roberts, who equalled the record in the 20-yard hurdles, and Means, who set a new mark in the shotput with 45 feet ⅞ inch. Munger cracked records in the high jump at 5 feet 9⅞ inches and in the discus with a throw of 125 feet 10 inches.

Both Cynwyd Division A and B teams in the Middle States Tennis League won their matches last Saturday. The first team had a clean sweep, 9-0, against Overbrook, while the B team defeated Penn Athletic B, 7-2. Harold Colborn, Harold Custer and Harry Simons won from their opponents in straight sets in the A matches.

Entomologist Tells How to Combat Jap Beetle

The following timely information regarding the life habits of the Japanese beetle and methods of controlling it is furnished by the entomologist, Loren B. Smith, in charge of preventing the spread of the Japanese Beetle at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's station, Riverton, N. J.

The adult beetle usually appears about the middle of June, and is present during June, July, August, September and October. During that time it feeds on many species of economic plants, principally on the foliage and fruit of apples, peaches, cherries and grapes, and on many types of ornamental trees and shrubs. During the summer an adult beetle lays its eggs in the soil, which hatch into tiny larvae. These feed throughout the autumn and reach a length of approximately one inch by November, when feeding ceases and they descend deeper into the soil where they pass the winter in a quiescent condition. In the spring the feeding is resumed and the larvae pupate early in May, the adult beetles emerging from the pupae during June and July.

For the protection of apples, grapes and cherries we are recommending the use of three tablespoonsful of lead arsenate, two tablespoonsful of flour to one gallon of water. This is at the rate of approximately three pounds of arsenate of lead and two pounds of flour to fifty gallons of water. The lead arsenate and flour are made into a thin paste and diluted with the required amount of water. The beetles feed on both the upper and lower sides of the leaf and the spray should be directed to completely cover both surfaces of the leaf. Do not wait until the beetles are present before applying this spray, but protect the foliage by spraying on or about June 25, regardless of whether the beetles are present on the foliage or not. If heavy rains wash the spray off the plants, it may be necessary to repeat the application. Thoroughness in applying the sprays so that all portions of the foliage are covered is of the utmost importance. Do not apply poisons to any fruits as they are approaching the ripening period.

To protect shade trees such as Elm, Linden, etc., shrubs and perennial plants, it has been found that coated lead arsenate, used at the rate of one tablespoonful to one gallon of water is sufficient. This material is a paste and quite heavy, so that this amount will be at the approximate rate of four pounds of the coated lead arsenate to fifty gallons of water. This material may be purchased in local stores in and around Philadelphia.

In case it is desired to use a spray which will kill the beetles upon contact with it, we advise the use of a pyrethrum soap which has been recently developed at the Japanese Beetle Laboratory. This material is being manufactured and sold by a number of firms. This material to be effective it is of course necessary for the beetles to be present. Most effective results are secured when spraying is done during the hot part of the day when the beetles are active. In order to kill the beetles, the spray must be applied directly to them. We recommend the use of this material only in cases where heavy infestations of the Japanese beetle are present.

Regarding Boy Week

Livingston Publishing Co.,
Ardmore, Narberth, Bala-Cynwyd.
Gentlemen:

The passing of Boy Week on the Main Line marks another milestone in the history of work for boys.

Those of us who have in mind the closer relationship between father and son and bringing the boy of our community more forcefully to the attention of the public feel greatly encouraged and repaid for our efforts.

Over five thousand boys took part in our various activities, with hundreds of men participating and carrying on the work.

The program covered a variety of interesting and worthwhile activities, beginning with the parade on Saturday, April 27, and closing on May 5 with athletic contests and the awards in the various theatres.

To the following chairmen, who unselfishly gave both their time and efforts to bring this great program to so successful a conclusion, permit me to express my profound appreciatiion: Messrs. George A. Mahl, Frank H. Elmore, Dr. Philip Bishop, Walton M. Wentz, H. J. Mosteller.

W. B. Richards, Parade.

I feel confident, by the enthusiasm shown and the spirit evidenced throughout all the towns, that next year will be even bigger and better than the one just completed.

Five Local Boy Scouts Chosen For Jamboree

Will Be Sent to England to Join Third International Meeting in Summer.

PERPLEXING TIE BROKEN

Ardmore Scout to Go to English Jamboree

The Boy Scouts from the Ardmore Troops who are to be at the Third International Jamboree in England have been chosen. Last February the Fathers' Committee, composed of fathers from the three Scout Troops in Ardmore, announced that they would send one boy free from each troop. The boy in each troop was to be chosen on his progress in Scout work and his past history as a Scout.

Mr. Fawcett, Deputy Scout Executive for Delaware and Montgomery Counties; Mr. Moll, Assistant Executive for Delaware and Montgomery Counties, and Mr. Foster, Main Line Field Executive, all experienced men in Scouting and paid executives, carefully studied each boy's record and decided upon the winners. Troop No. 3 and Troop No. 2 presented no great difficulty, but Troop No. 1 resulted in a three-cornered tie. The judges were instructed to choose "the boy" from this group of three. After two hours more of carefully weighing all evidences, the committee again reported. They again reported Troop No. 1 a three-cornered tie, unable to be broken, and recommended that all three boys be sent.

The winners were:

Troop No. 3, American Legion, Sutton Road—Ralf Owen.

Troop No. 2, St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Ardmore Avenue—Thomas Cahill.

Troop No. 1, First Presbyterian Church, Montgomery Avenue—Donald Esty, Denton Barkman, Bruce French.

On Friday, May 10, George Fleming, Postmaster for Delaware and Montgomery Sea Scouts, and A. C. Conner, Scoutmaster of Ardmore Troop No. 1, acted as two of five judges at Lancaster to choose the boy to represent Lancaster at the Jamboree. The boy, Jay Quinn, from Lancaster, is being sent by the American Legion Post of that town. He will travel with the Ardmore unit.

Dr. Ashton Resigns From Hospital Board

Dr. Thomas G. Ashton, of Wynnewood, has resigned from the board of trustees of the Bryn Mawr Hospita' because ill health has prevented hin taking the active part to which he has always been accustomed. His resignation was accepted last Monday.

Joseph Neff Ewing, of Valley Forge, who is Dr. Ashton's son-in-law, has been appointed to fill the vacancy on the board.

Hoopes Resigns as Haverford Manager

John R. Hoopes, alumni secretary, graduate manager and president's assistant at Haverford College, has announced resignation from the college staff, effective July 1. He will become an associate in a Philadelphia advertising concern.

His successor has not yet been chosen, although a number of candidates have been discussed for the post. Final selection will be the duty of the president, who in turn will submit his recommendation to the Alumni Association for approval.

Mr. Hoopes will become associated with Jerome B. Gray in an advertising copy writing business. The firm has been established for several years and has been consistently growing.

Mr. Hoopes, a resident of West Chester, was appointed to the college post in June, 1924. As alumni secretary his duties included planning the annual Alumni functions and the Alumni Advisory Committee programs. He was also treasurer of the Pro Bono fund, which finances all Alumni expenses.

In his capacity of graduate manager of athletics, Mr. Hoopes became chairman of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Association championship meet at Haverford last year and again this year. He was also named as manager of the meet for 1930, but his resignation will automatically mean his withdrawal from the association. He has served as secretary-treasurer of the association for four years.

As an undergraduate at Haverford he was editor of the Haverford News, president of the Students' Association, a letter man on the football team and a winner of track numerals. He was secretary of his class when a freshman, treasurer as a sophomore and vice president as a senior. He served as secretary of the Athletic Cabinet and chairman of the Undergraduate Endowment Commission Fund. He is a member of the Triangle Society. He was graduated in 1921.

The instinct of teaching is but the fruition of a man's belief in the truth of his ideas. —George Moore.

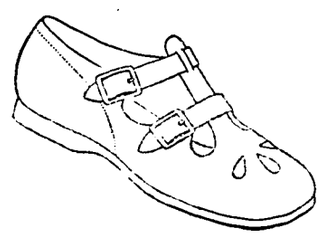
BAREFOOT SANDALS



There's nothing would please your children more than a pair of barefoot sandals. They give such perfect foot freedom that tiny feet enjoy the relaxation and grow wonderfully healthy in them. You'll like the EDWARDS' barefoot sandals best. . . . For they not only look better and wear better . . . but they are built over our famous "comfort" lasts that mothers praise so much.
